Michelle Jennings Wiebe, ASID, President of Studio M Inc.

Style Spotter Emeritus and Board Member for the High Point Market

Michelle Jennings Wiebe, ASID, is President and Founder of Studio M Inc., a national award winning interior design firm based in Tampa, FL. Her design specialty is luxury residential new construction with projects now in several states. Her other projects include multi-family condominiums, corporate headquarters, medical offices, and small scale hospitality spaces. Her dream project is to design a series of high style boutique hotels.

Michelle serves on the Board of Interior Design for Florida State University, her alma mater. For several years, she has served as “Style Spotter Emeritus”, leading the team of nine trend spotters at the High Point Market, the bi-annual international furniture market held in North Carolina. In January 2015, she also began her two year term on the Board of Directors for the High Point Market. She was also recently invited to be a judge for the prestigious Pinnacle Awards which recognizes the top furniture designers within the retail home furnishings industry. In addition, Michelle has become a favorite of home product manufacturers that seek her design advice on prototypes and other new items they are hoping to bring to the marketplace.

Her interior design work has been featured in national magazines, most recently named to the prominent 2015 “Gold List” by Luxe Magazine. Her projects and articles have also been published in many national newspapers, as well as many blogs. She is the editor of her firm’s blog “m}pressions”. She writes home features for the Tampa Bay Times, Florida’s largest newspaper. One of her new loves is speaking to large groups on design, new construction, and social media. In addition, Michelle is writing a design book, one of her life long dreams.
